

Am I Parent Material?

“I work 25 hours a week. I need the dough for a car, not diapers.”

“My friends want to go out on Saturday night and I’d have to stay home with the baby.”

“I don’t think my stepdad wants another mouth to feed in the house. He’s already stressed out ‘cause he can’t find a job.”

“I doubt my boyfriend would help support a child. He has a football college scholarship.”

“I’m hoping to join the Army when I get out of school. How could I take a kid with me?”

“You know, I like kids and all, but I get a little tired of their screaming.”

“My counselor said I’m wanting love and attention from home and not getting it. That’s why I want a child, so it’ll love me back.”

“My girlfriend had to take her boy, Samuel, to the emergency room cause he swallowed some poison, or somethin’. She got a bill for $598!”

“My dad will kick my ass if I get pregnant. Plus he said he’d kill my boyfriend.”